You will meet with your partner a total of 10 times. During these meetings, you will discuss your books and share “thick” questions. For your meetings, each partner is required to bring TWO “thinking” question to discuss with your reading buddy. Each partner may only use a “thinking” question prompt ONCE. You are to record each question on an index card before meeting with your partner and write the main points of your discussion on the other side of the card with your reading buddy.

- When you meet with your partner, you are not making up the questions...you are discussing the questions you created before the meeting.

Step 1: choose a partner and book

Step 2: get Mrs. McGuire signature for approval (without my signature, this project is null and void and you will both receive a grade of zero)

Step 3: Meet with your partner before you begin reading. Divide the total number of your book pages by 10. This will help you determine how many pages you should read before meeting with your partner for discussing your novel.

Step 4: complete individual planning sheets with your partner and FOLLOW IT! 😊
